Excerpt: . . . level. The OJP conference series discussed in the next chapter made obvious the need to support existing integration efforts and to provide agencies not currently engaged in inte-gration with assistance in getting started. Before the mechanisms providing the needed assistance could be fully established, however, a status assessment needed to be conduct-ed. The PTI survey was the vehicle used to accomplish this. This guidebook is an initial step in the process of helping local governments reach a level of integration that could lead to a nationwide, seamless integration of justice information systems. Local jurisdictions that do not have structures in place or are not engaged in jus-tice information integration can use the guidebook to assist them in developing successful data integration and governance structures. Jurisdictions that already have structures in place can use the guidebook as a tool to help them improve their structures. Also, jurisdic-tions that have integrated...
